

FOUR YEARS AGO

Simington Committed
Alleged Offense

AND ESCAPED FROM WEY-MOUTH, MASS.

Located in This City On Saturday Evening

ARRESTED BY OFFICERS OF PORTSMOUTH
BY REQUEST

The police made a most important capture Saturday night. About eight o'clock Chief of Police Entwistle received a telephone message from Weymouth, Mass., that a man by the name of Charles Simington, alias Charles Sawyer, was wanted in that town and asked the police to locate the man who, they said, was in this city.

In less than twenty minutes, Officers Kelley and West found the man on Deer street and brought him to the station. He was anxious to find out what his arrest was for and when told nearly collapsed.

The history of Sawyer or Simington was told by Chief of Police Fitzgerald of Weymouth to a Herald reporter.

In 1902, the man with a pal named George Adams is alleged to have made a wholesale raid on shoe factories in Weymouth, Abington, Rockland and other places in Massachusetts, stealing leather amounting to nearly $1000 dollars and disposing of it in Chelsea. The officers chased them for months and the pair was finally located by the police of station 15, Boston.

When the police were trying to make the arrest of the men in Boston, Sawyer or Simington gave battle to three officers and got away. His pal Adams, however, was captured and is now serving a sentence of fifteen years in prison.

Simington then came to Portsmouth and has been here ever since going under the name of Sawyer.

A few years ago he was arrested for the larceny of shoes from the store of Louis Slosberg and served six months in jail for the job. Since his release he has worked at teaming for different firms and is known to be

KITTERY POINT MEN FIND
FLOATING WRECKAGE

Reports Of A Very Severe Winter On Boone Island

GOSSIP OF A DAY COLLECTED BY OUR CORRESPONDENT

Kittery, April 23.
John Mace and Bert Baker, two Kittery Point men who were taking a Sunday outing in their sailboat outside, report sighting several pieces of wreckage about two miles east of Duck Island. The largest was a piece of a vessel's rail forty feet long and apparently new, freshly painted blue. The other side of the piece, which would have probably determined the color or name of the unfortunate vessel, could not be seen, and the men could not tow the wreckage on account of the light wind and strong tide.

A fine yawl boat's mast, however, they picked up. It is possible that this wreckage came from the schooner Sallie B. which foundered off Seguin on April 10, but that craft was an old vessel, while these fragments were certainly new.

Saturday night was dark and foggy, and a collision may have occurred.

An Easter concert was given at the Second Methodist Church on Sunday evening. The following was the program:

- Organ voluntary.
Song by Sunday school.
Prayer, Rev. Sylvester Hooper
Recitation, Miss Nellie Call
Recitation, Miss Marion Brackett
Exercise, Four children
Recitation, Miss Ruth Remick
Recitation, Nine children with candles, singing.
Song and chorus, by young ladies.
Trio, "Red, White and Blue."
Recitation, Miss Helen Paul
Song, Misses Isable and Gyda Goo-

Exercise, Nine girls
Singing by all.

The baseball teams of the Austin and Kittery Point grammar schools met on Saturday morning in the Gerrish Field at Kittery Point, with the result that the latter team won by a score of eighteen to seventeen. Another game will be played on Thursday, April 25. The teams were made up as follows:

Kittery Point—Catcher, Rossiter; pitcher, Phillips; first base, Seaward; second base, Gunnison; third base, Wilson; left field, Witham; center field, Cutts; right field, Tobey; shortstop, Pruett.

Elmer R. Durgin and son of Wolfboro, N. H., were the guests of H. R. Paul and family on Lotts avenue on Sunday. They came in Mr. Durgin's handsome new automobile, recently purchased in Portsmouth.

The Christian Baptist Church of Kittery Point had its Easter concert on Sunday, it having been postponed from last week on account of inclement weather.

A number of baseball games are scheduled for Thursday, Fast day in Maine.

Fred Moulton, purser on the ferry steamer Alice Howard, underwent an operation for appendicitis today.

Miss Bessie Whitehouse, who has been passing a vacation with her parents, has returned to her studies at Worcester, Mass.

Traffic on the York Harbor and Beach railroad was resumed this morning, the Braveboat Harbor bridge having been repaired.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Bowden and their daughter, Miss Beryl, of Lynn Mass., made a flying auto trip to this town on Sunday.

William Briard of Salem, Mass., passed Sunday in town with relatives.

All Master Masons are requested to meet in the vestry of the Second Christian Church at seven o'clock on Tuesday evening and to wear white gloves. All Master Masons who are visiting in town are cordially invited.

A reception to Rev. Sylvester Hooper will be given in the vestry of the Second Methodist Church by the society on Wednesday evening. All are invited.

At Paul Jones memorial service under the auspices of Naval Lodge of Masons, No. 184, will be held on Tuesday evening, April 24, at 7.45 o'clock, at the Second Christian Church.

DUST MAY BLOW

So Far As Mr. Hett Is Concerned

HE WILL SPRINKLE THE STREETS NO MORE.

At Least, That Is What He Tells Reporter

SAYS THE PEOPLE OWE HIM OVER ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS

The dust is once more flying in the streets and the question of what is going to be done about it demands an answer.

This matter of street sprinkling has been a bone of contention every year and this year there is more bother ahead of us.

In 1905, the situation was such that the Merchants' Exchange took it in hand and for a month or more they paid street commissioner Scruton for sprinkling, but after that time gave up the job to August Hett, who held the signatures of business men and residents giving him the right to do the work.

Hett performed the work after that and now says that he had a lot of trouble in getting his money.

This year, things are worse than ever before, as the appropriation for sprinkling has been cut from $750 to $500.

Mr. Hett, in conversation with a Herald reporter today (Monday) stated that he was out of it and further stated that he informed the Merchants' Exchange last year that he would refuse to take up the work this year unless some of the money owed to him was paid.

"Why," said Mr. Hett, "I sprinkled (slinging street from the shoe shop) to the public library and only four people on the street ever gave me any money. Again, on Pleasant street from the South Mill bridge to Market square, I received pay from just five persons, and only two paid on Daniel street."

"Who will do this work?" asked The Herald reporter. "You are the only man who has the apparatus."

"I neither know nor care," answered Mr. Hett. "The carts for sprinkling are for sale. The city can purchase them and do its own work or any person who wishes can buy them and take the job."

"I cannot collect my money. The people say they pay for it in taxes and that's all there is to it. When you take into consideration the fact that people owe me nearly $1000, there is not money enough coming my way to pay my men and feed the horses. The people who can pay are the ones who give me the most trouble and the only way out of this thing that I can see is to have a law passed the same as in Massachusetts and other states regarding street sprinkling."

It will not be many days before the dust will be unbearable and we will have to eat a little of it. If the present situation continues, the only relief will be a little rain now and then.

PORTSMOUTH PEOPLE WERE NOT INJURED

Messages Assuring Relatives Of Their Safety Received

HOUSES OF MR. WINCHESTER AND MRS.
FOSTER NOT DAMAGED

Messages from the wrecked city of San Francisco are now being received in this city. All of them announce the safety of Portsmouth people who were in or near the city.

Although some of the Portsmouth men and women suffered financial loss, not one of them, so far as known at present, was injured.

A telegram received this (Monday) morning announced the safety of the families of Frank Winchester and Mrs. Joseph Hiller Foster. Their homes escaped uninjured from both earthquake and fire.

The property of the Main and Winchester estates generally escaped damage.

Mrs. Jefferson C. Rowe has received a letter written on the day of the earthquake assuring her of the safety of her sister, Mrs. Theodore Manson, and the members of her family. The home of the Manson family in Alameda was severely shaken but not badly damaged. Mr. Manson's business in San Francisco, however, was swept away.

At the time the letter was written, the fire in San Francisco was burning fiercely.

Further telegrams from Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Marston announce that they will reach Portsmouth this week.

GIVES USE OF AUDITORIUM

Manager F. W. Hartford of the Concord Auditorium has given the use of that theatre free of charge to the combined church choirs of Concord for a benefit sacred concert next Sunday evening for the people of San Francisco.

TAKEN TO THE HOSPITAL

Alvado Jenness was taken to the Cottage Hospital in the ambulance this (Monday) morning suffering from typhoid fever.

MRS. COOPER FREE

Gets Acquitted On The First Ballot

QUICKNESS OF VERDICT WAS A SURPRISE

Unusual Incident Occurs During Reporting Of Jury

VERDICT ACCIDENTALLY ANTICIPATED BY JURYMAN CHASE

Augusta, Me., April 22.—The jury which had listened so patiently for many weeks to the evidence in the case against Mrs. Cooper for the alleged murder of Charles D. Northy, Jr., at South Windsor, on Oct. 10 last, listened for three hours and a half yesterday morning to the charge of Judge Henry C. Peabody. Then it retired, at 1 o'clock.

In a little more than an hour it was given out that the jury had agreed and were ready to come in. The quickness with which the verdict had been reached took all by surprise and found court officials napping all about town.

Telephones soon summoned judge, lawyers and bailiffs, and at 2:30 Judge Peabody mounted the bench and in a stern manner commanded that the strictest caution be exercised as to any demonstration on the part of the spectators during the scene which was to be enacted. The jury filed in. Mrs. Cooper, breathing hard, with eyes tearful, stood by the dock. Attorney Heath sat with head bowed in his arms, overcome with the seriousness of the moment.

Then occurred a most unexpected break in the proceedings, one perhaps never before duplicated in the annals of criminal cases in the country. As Clerk Jones rose to call the roll of the jury, according to the ancient custom, he requested them to reply "present" to their names as called.

The first name called was that of Russell M. Chase, the youngest member of the panel, the only unmarried man, and the juror who sat next to Mrs. Cooper, barely a foot away. As his name was called, overcome with the fulness of his pent-up emotion, he responded, "No, sir!"

The whole line of jurymen turned to him, the judge paused, and every man in the audience at once grasped the significance of these two words. The foreman of the jury had been asked of his privilege.

The words were not lost on Mr. Cooper, too, while she did not move a muscle. As the name was called, she merely said, "No, sir," and turned to the juror. "You were the first to tell me I was innocent. I shall never forget you."

The roll was completed and then came the final question of the judge.

"Is the woman at the bar guilty or not guilty?"

"Not guilty," came from the panel.

Mrs. Cooper wept not loud but the tears filled her eyes as she continued standing until Clerk Jones told her she might be seated. All about the court room, despite the judge's warning, went an audible expression of approval and relief.

The verdict was pronounced at 2:51 an hour and fifteen minutes after the jury had left the room, during which time they had eaten dinner. But one ballot was taken.

PORTSMOUTH HIGH

Was Victorious Over Rochester On Saturday

In a ten inning game at The Plains Saturday afternoon, Portsmouth High School defeated Rochester High by a score of ten to nine.

Ward was ineffective throughout but was saved up to the sixth inning by the good work of his team.

In the seventh inning, Rochester obtained a lead of two points, but Portsmouth tied in the ninth through a wild throw of Dillingham.

In the tenth with two men out, Norris made his only error of the game allowing Hersey to reach first and Matthews to score.

To say that the immense audience that packed the Lyceum last night and that meant not only the "Standing Room Only" sign, but also that about one hundred were accommodated with seats on the stage—to say that they were delighted is commonplace, and the spontaneity of their applause has seldom been equalled here. The house fairly rocked is the only set phrase that fits the occasion. —Rochester (N.Y.) Herald, Tuesday, April 3, 1906. Morning after Sousa's concert.

TO NEW YORK CITY

Dr. A. J. Nute Transferred From Port Huron

AND A PROMOTION ACCOMPANIES THE TRANSFER

Dr. Albert J. Nute, who recently resigned office of city physician of Portsmouth to accept an appointment as medical officer at Port Huron, Michigan, in the United States Revenue Marine Service with the rank of first lieutenant, has received a merited promotion.

Hereafter, he will be stationed in the same service in New York City, a much more desirable location and at an increased salary of two thousand dollars a year and expenses, aside from what income he may derive from regular practice.

He leaves today to assume his new position, and his many friends in old Strawberry Bank will be much pleased, not only on account of his promotion, but also because of the increased opportunity it gives him to revisit them in this city.

CURE SICK KIDNEYS.

15 Dartmouth Place, Boston, Mass.
"Dear Sir:—I have taken several boxes of Smith's Buchu Lithia Pills, and I find them to be the best remedy for weak kidneys that I know of or have ever used. I have been at times troubled very much with my kidneys, and since I have been taking Smith's Buchu Lithia Pills I have felt perfect relief. I can say that I am greatly benefited by your pills, and I will recommend them to everybody for relief for weak kidneys. I feel well, and better than I have for a long time. They take all sleep and dreamy feeling away and make you feel like a new man."
Yours truly,
(Signed) J. G. BUTLER.

SMITH'S Buchu Lithia PILLS

The Kidney Cure.

They act at once, relieving by removing the cause, and will cure any curable case. They positively contain no opiates, narcotics, injurious drugs, such as being in pill form, contain no alcohol. Alcohol, which is present in all liquid remedies where it has to be used to prevent fermentation, is a deadly poison to sick kidneys or bladder. Try them to-day.

For Sick Kidneys, Rheumatism, the Bladder and the Blood.

Have you ever tried the simple and unfailing test of setting aside your urine in a bottle or vessel for twenty-four hours? If not, do so at once, and after twenty-four hours if you find any deposit, sediment, stringy or mucous matter it means kidney trouble.</

TO DO WITH COLD TURKEY

A Very Fine Dish Called Kromeska May Be Made—An Excellent Meat Pie.

One of the best methods of reheating cold turkey is that of serving it in the form of kromeska. First make a batter with one egg, lightly beaten, one ounce of flour, and a quarter of a pint of milk. Then put one ounce of butter in a pan and mix with it, over a gentle heat, one ounce of flour and a quarter of a pint of milk.

Cook till the mixture leaves the sides of the pan quite clean. Take it from the fire, and mix with it four ounces of cold turkey, finely chopped, one teaspoonful chopped parsley, salt, pepper and a little lemon juice.

When the mixture is cold form into rounds with well-floured hands, dip them in the batter and fry in plenty of smoking hot fat. Decorate with parsley and serve hot.

For a cold meat pie chop two ounces of suet finely, and mix with it six ounces of flour, add a quarter of a teaspoonful of salt and half a teaspoonful of baking powder. Pour in sufficient cold water to make a firm paste.

Butter a mold and line it with the paste, then roll out a small portion to form a lid. Take half a pound of cold cooked turkey, cut in small pieces, and put them in a basin. Put a quarter of a pound of macaroni in boiling salted water and cook for 20 minutes.

Add it to the meat, with a small piece of chopped onion, seasoning to taste, and a cupful of stock. Mix all together, put it in the prepared mold, put on the lid of the paste, cover with buttered paper and steam for an hour.

Turn out and serve with brown sauce. Instead of steaming, this dish may be put into the oven and baked for half an hour.

DELICIOUS ROAST DUCK.

Small Ones Best for Roasting and They Should Often Be Basted and Dredged with Flour.

In order to give the meat the proper flavor, the duck should be kept in a small pen for a few days and fed on barley meal or cracked wheat, and given plenty of clean fresh water. Small young ducks are better than a large, old one for roasting; the old ones are best for stews, salmi or braise. Clean and truss according to general directions, except that the feet should be scaled, cleaned and twisted across the back, while pinions and neck are entirely removed. Stuff, and skewer the wings close to the side that the breast shall be made as plump as possible, and roast from 30 to 45 minutes, basting often, and dredging with flour to give it a frothy appearance. For stuffing, a force meat made of one-half pound of veal, one-fourth pound of suet, a little parsley, chives, and plenty of mushrooms; salt and pepper to taste; make into a paste with two well-beaten eggs and sufficient water. Fill the inside of the duck before roasting. Serve with brown gravy and apple sauce, or with stewed chestnuts prepared with the gravy from the duck. Ducks should always be well cooked. They are sometimes stuffed with apples, pared, cut and cut into quarters, or with a few small onions; neither apples nor onions are to be served. If a stuffing is to be eaten, cover dry pieces of bread with boiling water; when soft, press out the water and season with salt, pepper, melted butter and finely chopped onion.—The Commoner.

THE HOME DOCTOR.

There is nothing more soothing in a case of nervous restlessness than a hot salt bath just before retiring. Acidity of the Stomach.—A good and simple remedy for acidity of the stomach is a dose of ammonia. Five to ten grains of a carbonate, or 15 drops of ammonia water in a glass of cold water.

For chilblains, this lotion, applied several times a day with bandages made of old linen, is said to be beneficial: One-half ounce of glycerine, ten grains of tincture of iodine and ten grains of tincture of opium.

Inflammation of the throat and tonsils is a common complaint at certain seasons of the year. A soothing drink for persons so affected is made by boiling a teaspoonful of isinglass in half a pint of milk with a dozen bruised almonds and sweetened to taste. This drink has a marvelous effect in reducing the inflammation.

A Preventive for Corns.—At the first sign of a corn or bunion, the feet should be bathed every morning in cold or warm water, to which a little alum or vinegar has been added. This is a soothing bath also for swollen feet, and leaves a nice sensation of freshness. Feet that are inclined to corns or bunions should be sponged at night with lavender water or very slightly diluted with vinegar. People who suffer from weak ankles should put plenty of salt in the water in which they bathe their feet, and should use the water cold.—People's Home Journal.

Cheap Sponge Cake. Beat yolks of two eggs and add gradually one cup sugar and one-quarter cup hot water, also one-quarter teaspoon lemon extract and the beaten whites of the eggs. Lastly stir in one cup flour in which salt and one and one-half teaspoon baking powder has been mixed. Bake 25 minutes in a moderate oven. Use shallow pans.

Doughnuts. To one cup sugar add one cup sour cream, in which dissolve one teaspoon soda. Then add one cup sweet milk and flour to make a stiff dough.

ETONS MORE ELABORATE.

Short Coats Strong Rivals to the Long Ones and a Very Attractive Suit Described.

The Eton jacket is keeping a steady pace with all the advance steps of its longer rival, the redingote coat, as regards minute detail and elaborate decoration. Almost every week brings out some new variety of Eton, and each more stunning than the other.

One of the greatest advantages of the Eton is the fact that it shows the new tailored skirts to better advantage than any other design. And certainly nothing could be more charming than the skirts of lustrous fabrics now displayed in countless numbers in the shops. There are many substituted for cloth, and while they are not so expensive, it cannot be said that they are cheap by any means. They are extremely soft and fine, and in some instances embroidered or figured in dainty design.

For real luxury, however, nothing could surpass an Eton suit of cherry-red French broadcloth. Just why the shade is called cherry is beyond the comprehension of the average observer, but true disciples of fashion have long since ceased to question the decisions of the master artists of the modes. The red of the gown under consideration is so dark that under certain lights it takes on a decidedly bluish tint, and the couturiers have not lost sight of this fact to add delightful touches of blue to the trimming of some of these frocks.

The skirt of the design referred to is laid in several side plaits at the front, though at the sides there are just two large plaits below a well-fitting hip yoke, scalloped around the lower edge. Beyond the points of the scallops of the hip yoke there are rounded tabs of cream-white cloth appliqued with a fancy blue and red silk braid.

Touches of this white cloth are introduced in the decoration of the Eton, which is tucked at the front, buttoning in double-breasted effect. An exaggerated Dutch yoke effect is outlined about the opening with a stitched empiement of the cloth, which, at the bust line, turns over to form the lapels, which are faced with the heaviest red satin. The round collar is curved into the revers at the front, with the rounded point finished with pieces of cream cloth, stitched with braid. The sleeves are full at the top and extend below the elbow, beginning at which point they are laid in flat tucks. The undercuff is of cloth, trimmed with narrow braid and buttons and finished with another cuff of satin and cloth.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

HOW FURS ARE FRESHED.

First Brush and Shake Thoroughly and Then Clean with Either Heated Bran or Flour.

Treat them to a good brushing and shaking first and afterwards give them one of these several dry cleaning processes which can be done at home with any but the worst soiled furs.

Heat bran, and with a flannel rub it well into the fur. Leave it wrapped up for a day, and then brush every piece of bran from the fur, and give it a thorough shaking. Use for gray fox, squirrel, chinchilla and caracal.

Cover the bottom of a frying pan with flour and leave it, stirring continually until it becomes a dark brown color, when it is ready to be rubbed into the fur. Brush well afterward, and comb if the fur is long haired. Use for sable, sea skin, bear, or any of the brown furs.

For white furs use the flour treatment as hot as possible without browning the flour. Rub it in with a piece of white flannel, which must be renewed as soon as it becomes dirty, and repeat the flour often.

Ermine is harder to clean than most white furs, and it is necessary to treat it to the above process first, and then to rub it with powdered magnesia, using a piece of white muslin. When not soiled, but merely crushed, they may be made to look like new by wetting the whole coat with a hair brush, brushing the fur the wrong way. Leave it to dry in the air about half an hour. Then beat it well with a rattan, and after beating, comb it with a coarse comb the right way of the fur.

In repairing furs the skin sometimes will be found wrinkled and shrunken after taking out the lining. Get some one to hold it out straight for you, and then saturate it with water in which salt has been dissolved, but be careful not to wet the hair. This makes the skin soft and pliable, so that you can stretch it into shape again.

In sewing seams as in setting in a piece of fur, a piece of cardboard slipped between will help by keeping the hairs back from the stitches.—Chicago Tribune.

A Chic Coat.

Exhibited in a window next a most dazzling array of evening frocks a few days ago was a coat of lightest moulton cloth, made loose fitting back and front, with plain sleeves and a collar of dark green velvet. The coat was worn over a habit of dark hunter's green cloth, fashioned with the jauntiest of coats imaginable. The design was a round cutaway, a perfect imitation of the latest style for men, except that it was dovetailed at the front, if one might use the expression, to accommodate rolling revers cut in one piece with the front. The revers were lined with black satin, while they opened over a vest of tan cloth trimmed with green velvet buttons.

Chocolate Fudge.

Cook three cups sugar, one cup milk and one teaspoonful butter. When sugar is melted add four or five tablespoons cocoa. Stir and boil 15 minutes. Take from fire, add seven tablespoons vanilla, stir till creamy, pour on buttered plates and cut in squares.

Cracker Lemon Pie.

Grate the yellow rind from one lemon, add the juice, one cupful of water, one cupful of sugar and one-quarter cup of rolled cracker. Lino in plate with paste, pour in the filling, put on a top crust and bake.

AGAVE AMERICANA.

A Little Information Concerning the Character of the Century Plant We So Carefully Tend.

In many of our windows are seen little, carefully tended, scrubby plants of the Century plant (American Agave), and now and then we hear of a large one, under good conditions and vigor, soil, climate and care, sending out a bloom stalk, but its blossoming is very rare. In its native habitat, under favorable conditions, it has been known to bloom when 12 to 15 years of age; but this does not apply to pot or box-grown specimens. The usual span of pot-grown specimens is from 25 to 45 years. When the plant blooms, it dies. The bloom stalk is perhaps 25 to 50 feet tall, and the branches (usually about 12 feet from the ground to start with, and from that reaching to the top) are decorated with corn-colored flowers, hanging in clusters like those of the begonia rubra. The flowers remain on the branches for a month, when they fall from the dying plant, and where they alight hundreds of little new plants will spring up. When dying, the leaves of the parent plant swell enormously, then wither away, and only the round, spike-like flowerstem, hardened to a stony consistency, remains. The Century plant is a native of Central America. In countries with a mild climate, such as southern France, Spain, Italy and Algiers, it thrives in the open air. For house culture, it should be kept during the winter in a moderate temperature, given but little water, but on the arrival of warm weather it should be liberally supplied and given good soil and plenty of sunshine.—The Commoner.

THE FOLIAGE PLANTS.

The Many Different Kinds Easily Obtainable Should Not Be Neglected for Indoor Garden.

One who attempts to get the most satisfaction from indoor gardens cannot afford to neglect the many foliage plants which are now available. In their delicacy and grace some of these appeal to us even more subtly than do the striking flowering plants, while on account of their ease of growth and the fact that they require comparatively little direct sunshine, they fill a place in the home which cannot be so well filled by any other group of plants.

Most of the foliage plants which are desirable for home use may be purchased when small for a few cents. Some of the commoner species will be found at the local florists, and can best be purchased there, but many of the varieties must be ordered from the catalogues of the great seed houses, and it is well worth while to try a few of these in order to develop the interest that always inheres in the growing of new things. Study the catalogues and the photographic illustrations which now add so much of interest and instruction to their pages, and select a few of the things which seem most likely to please you and to be adapted to your conditions.

Some of the most striking foliage plants may be grown from seed, and wherever possible this should be done; for there is an immensely greater satisfaction in the interest that one takes in a plant which one has grown from the seed than in one bought from a florist.—Good Housekeeping.

THE PRINCESS ROBE.

One in Vogue Does Not Demand Perfect Figure That the Old-Fashioned Princess Did.

A great many women are wearing the princess dresses and, if made in the new ways, they are not so very unbecoming after all. The princess fits the waist very snugly and it fits the hips and it fits the neck and throat. But, otherwise, there is some latitude. The old-fashioned princess gown was very trying. A woman had to be specially molded into it. And once into it she had to stay put. She could not walk in comfort nor could she sit down at all. It was a gown for receptions only. Mrs. Cleveland wore a princess several times and her tall, statuesque figure, with its exquisite lines, was charmingly displayed in this most trying of all gowns. But, when other women tried to wear it, the result was disastrous.

The princess of to-day is entirely different. It can be worn with impunity by almost anyone, for it is adapted to the figure of all who put it on. The princess, as just imported from Paris, is shaped to the hips by many gorges and it is fitted, so to speak, with a hip flare which makes it suitable even for the stout woman. In the front it is cut to something like a point which gives one the flat front if not the straight front. It is a very becoming garment.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Coffee Cake.

Cream three-fourths cup of butter and one cup sugar, add one cup molasses, one teaspoon cinnamon and one-half teaspoon each of cloves, nutmeg and salt. Dissolve 1½ teaspoons soda in a cup of strong coffee and add to the mixture. Beat in five cups flour and one cup raisins. Butter should be stiff. Add more coffee, or put in less flour, if necessary.—Farm and Home.

Chocolate Fudge.

Cook three cups sugar, one cup milk and one teaspoonful butter. When sugar is melted add four or five tablespoons cocoa. Stir and boil 15 minutes. Take from fire, add seven tablespoons vanilla, stir till creamy, pour on buttered plates and cut in squares.

Cracker Lemon Pie.

Grate the yellow rind from one lemon, add the juice, one cupful of water, one cupful of sugar and one-quarter cup of rolled cracker. Lino in plate with paste, pour in the filling, put on a top crust and bake.

WINDOW-BOX GARDENING.

One Can Get Very Nice Messes of Green Things Before Ground Outside Is Ready.

Great is the capacity of a wooden box in the way of furnishing spring relishes. Fill a shallow box—four or five inches will do—with a rich leaf-mold rendered loose and pliable by having sand worked into it, and in this plant lettuce seeds; in another like it, radish seeds; in still another, tomato and egg-plant seeds. Give the soil a good wetting, and, unless the room is very dry, they will need but little more water until the little plants appear. Set them in a sunny window, and lay a piece of flannel, dipped in water, over them. This flannel may be sprinkled every morning, to keep it wet. When the plants begin to appear, the flannel must be removed, and the soil in the boxes kept moist by use of the sprinkling can. Have other similar boxes ready, and mix with the leaf-mold less sand and more good garden soil, having the boxes deeper, also. When the plants are large enough to transplant, set them in the larger boxes about two inches apart, watering them well and shading them from the sun until they straighten up, then give them plenty of water and sunshine, and they will do fine. The surplus plants may be left in the first boxes and, as they get large enough used for the table, thus thinning them out and giving them a chance to grow, also. The soil must be quite rich, to insure the best results.

If care is taken to keep the soil moist and warm and in good light, one can have quite nice little messes of green things long before the ground outside will grow anything. When the garden patch can be worked, the ground should be well enriched with old manure, and the soil spaded deeply and pulverized, and the tomato, egg-plant and lettuce plants should be strong and thrifty, and may be transplanted without the least stunting or dwarfing. The large plants of lettuce will grow and make fine heads after cutting off the large leaves and planting the root and crown. The lettuce plants may be set two or three inches apart, and thinned as they cover the ground.

CAKES AND COOKIES.

Some Very Nice Ginger Snaps and Hermits and Recipes for Layer-Cake and a Puff.

Ginger Snaps.—Heat one cupful of molasses and pour over half a cupful of sugar, add one-half cupful soft butter, one tablespoonful of ginger, a teaspoonful of soda and flour sufficient to roll very thin. Cut and bake in a quick oven, being careful not to let them get too brown.

White Cake.—A fine recipe for a large white cake calls for one cupful of butter creamed with two and a half cups of sugar. Add alternately, in small quantities, one cupful of milk with three cups of flour, keeping the batter very smooth. With the fourth cup of flour stir four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, add to the mixture, then fold in quickly the stiffly beaten whites of ten eggs and flavor to taste. This will make four generous layers.

Hermits.—Three eggs, one and one-half cups of brown sugar, one-half teaspoonful of soda dissolved in one tablespoonful of hot water, one teaspoonful of baking powder sifted with two and one-half cups of flour, one teaspoonful each of cloves, cinnamon and nutmeg with one and one-half cups of seeded raisins or currants. Drop from a spoon onto a buttered tin.

Cornstarch Puffs.—Cream together one-half cupful of butter and one cupful of sugar, add the well-beaten yolks of four eggs, a pinch of salt and one teaspoonful of flavoring, preferably vanilla extract; add alternately to this mixture the stiffly whipped whites of the four eggs and one cupful of cornstarch with which two teaspoonfuls of baking powder have been sifted. Bake in a quick oven and when cool cover thickly with icing.—Mrs. Regina Rogers, in the Pilgrim.

Flour Polish.

Put two ounces of yellow beeswax and a half ounce of white wax, shaved fine, into a pint of turpentine and let stand 24 hours. Dissolve half an ounce of white castile soap in half a cupful of boiling water; when dissolved, pour into the turpentine mixture; mix thoroughly, and set the vessel containing it in a pot of hot water in order that it may be warm. Apply a very little at a time, to the floor with a flannel cloth, doing but a small space at a time and doing it well, polishing it vigorously. Do not attempt to wax a floor unless you are prepared for hard work, and plenty of it. Otherwise, it is best to try some other floor finish.

To Polish a Mirror.

Have a piece of fine sponge, a soft cloth and piece of old, soft silk. These must be kept perfectly free from dust and dirt, as the least grain will scratch the fine polished surface of the glass. With a little spirits of wine, or equal parts of gin and water, sponge off all spots; then dust quickly over the surface fine powdered glue, tied in a muslin bag. Rub off lightly and quickly with the soft cloth and polish with the old, soft silk. The edges of the frame must not be touched.

Cracker Lemon Pie.

Grate the yellow rind from one lemon, add the juice, one cupful of water, one cupful of sugar and one-quarter cup of rolled cracker. Lino in plate with paste, pour in the filling, put on a top crust and bake.

TRAPPERS PROSPEROUS.

Furs Are Bringing Better Prices Now Than for Thirty-Three Years Past.

The many trappers operating in northern Minnesota will reap a rich harvest the present winter, meaning many comforts, even luxuries, in the log cabins of scores of sturdy settlers, in the wilds of the northern country, who are mainly dependent upon their traps during the cold months for a livelihood, says the Duluth Herald.

The settlers and professionals in the country directly tributary to Duluth look for the most part to mink, marten and otter to make their trapping operations profitable, and the pelts of these little animals at present command a higher price than at any time during the past thirty-three years, while there has been a decided slump in the prices paid for furs from the black, blue and silver fox, which bring only $50 each now, where a year or two ago they were as high as $300 apiece.

Last winter $4.50 was considered a good price for a mink pelt, and it wasn't more than a season or two back that $2.50 was the highest paid for a single pelt of this kind. Now a choice raw mink fur will bring $11, and a marten pelt from $18 to $20, where $6 or $7 was paid last winter. An otter skin is worth $22 just as it comes from the trapper's hands, which is away above any price paid for more than thirty years. Quite a few fisher are caught through northern Minnesota, and these are worth from $8 to $10. Beaver are very scarce in this state. They are worth from $7 to $9 each.

The higher prices paid for furs will also prove a boon to the Minnesota Indians, or such of them at least as have any business ability. A good many of the Indians trap during the winter, but the trouble with the majority of them is that they do not know the value of their catch, and are likely to sell a $22 otter pelt for $4 or $5, and a $11 mink pelt for a dollar, or perhaps a pint of whiskey. The white man is well aware of this fact, and some agents make it their business during the winter to do nothing but buy furs of the Indians, selling them later at a handsome margin of profit.

These agents usually travel from reservation to reservation by dog team or snow shoes.

Even the little weasel, scores of which daily leave their tiny tracks in the snow on the outskirts of the city, are worth $1 each for their pelts. They were valueless three years ago, and two years ago were worth 10 cents each. For a time last winter the pelts brought 50 cents each. The weasel also belongs to the homologous of the American sable, together with the marten, mink, fisher and otter. The American sable really is the marten, according to some authorities. It is commonly called the pine marten, and at first glance the only distinguishing feature between it and the mink is a spot of beautiful orange color on its throat, just under the chin.

A grizzly bear skin is worth $40, if in the best condition, but of course grizzly bears are unknown in this state. Many black bears are trapped and shot, however, by settlers, Indians and trappers.

Banks in Mexico.

A report from Consul Canada de Vera Cruz says the recent increase of capital stock effected by the Banco de Londres y Mexico and the Banco Central Mexicano, as well as that contemplated by the Banco Nacional de Mexico, has awakened among the directors of many of the local banks a desire of imitating those institutions. The consequences that might result from a simultaneous and altogether too rapid expansion of a group of financial concerns, the greater part of which are without markets for their stock in foreign parts and which do not enjoy the favorable conditions the larger concerns have succeeded in obtaining, seem to be overlooked. Consequently, for the purpose of limiting the circulation of specie or paper money to the necessities of the country, the government will not permit local banks to increase their capital stock without first complying with certain restrictions prescribed by a recent executive department order.

The World's Treasury.

Jonathan and his continent hold the money grip. With one-twentieth of the world's population the United States has two-thirds of its banking power. Capital, surplus, circulation and deposits being considered. The banking strength of the world has increased 115 per cent, since 1890, while that of the United States has expended 170 per cent. New York city 200 per cent. New York bank clearings average greater than those of London and far in excess of those of any other financial center. With expansion comes responsibility. Serious financial straits in America would be felt the world over, so inextricably intermixed are the fates of Berlin, Vienna, London, Paris and New York, that none can suffer without the others.

Modest Youth.

The Girl.—Oh, dear! I wish I were not rich. I shall have to have people think that ours is not a love match.

The Man.—Yes, I suppose it does look as if you were buying me.—Cleveland Leader.

Cynical.

"After all," said the sentimental youth, "love is a lottery."

"I don't know about that," answered the cynic. "You have some chance in a lottery."—Washington Star.

TITLED CATTLEMEN.

MEMBERS OF BRITISH ARISTOCRACY IN TEXAS.

Some Reminiscences of Twenty Years Ago When the Nobles Owned the Southwestern Ranges.

"The experiences of members of the English aristocracy in the cattle business in the United States have left a fund of amusing anecdotes in the southwest," said R. L. Carlin of Guthrie, who was an employee of the Texas & Pacific Railroad company in western Texas in the early '80s, to a Guthrie correspondent of the Kansas City Star.

"I have a keen remembrance of the earl of Aykesh, who bought a ranch near Big Springs, Tex., about 1884 or 1885. I was living at Big Springs and saw the earl and his companions almost daily. His family name was Finch, and with him were his two brothers, Clem and Dan Finch, a rollicking blade known as Lord Harry (Gordon) and an Episcopal clergyman known as Bishop Bernard.

"Locally, the earl was called 'Judge,' which he did not resent. He was reported to have an income of £55,000 a year, and his expenditures indicated that his means were large. He bought a frame hotel at Big Springs, which he used exclusively for himself and party when they were not at his ranch. He once was owner of a Big Springs saloon for one night. He paid $6,000 for the establishment and presented it next morning to the man from whom he bought it. I never saw any members of his party pay for anything. They played pool and billiards frequently in a local resort, smoking the best cigars and taking their drinks regularly. At the close of their games the tickets were cashed by the earl.

The earl and his friends were great sportsmen. In the field they often used 20-caliber guns for birds, shooting pinfire shells imported from England. The earl had hunted in all the big game countries of the world, and his collection of furs, skins and heads was of great value. His ranch house was filled with them. In cedar chests he kept photographs and mementos of his life abroad. His ranch house was burned by accident one night and was destroyed, with all its contents.

"I was invited once to join his party in a winter hunting trip, and during the expedition saw a surprising illustration of the bath loving Englishman. The weather was cold and I had arisen early, chilled to the marrow, and was shivering near the cook's fire, when Gordon crawled from his sleeping bag to dress. About 50 feet distant was a pool of water covered with a thin coating of ice. 'Bless me soul,' shouted Gordon, 'what a jolly chance for a bath,' and he plunged into the water, breaking the ice as he went and followed by the earl and his brothers. The sight was execrable to a warm-loving American, but the boys of the Englishmen glowed pink and red in the frosty air.

"Despite his youth—he was about 35—the earl was looked upon as an elderly man by his companions. He had gone the pace, and soon paid the penalty. When his physician called one morning the earl, who had been in bed several days, asked that his pulse be taken. 'Well, judge, I should say that you have about 15 minutes to live,' said the physician, after making his examination. 'If that be your opinion, replied the earl without a tremor, 'give me a good, big farewell drink of American whisky.' He emptied his glass and with a long sigh turned on his side and was gone.

The cablegram business at the little telegraph office of Big Springs for the next few days astonished the operators. The rate was $1.10 a word, and the cable was used as if the senders were writing letters. One of the first messages of condolence from England came from the prince of Wales, now King Edward. The body of the earl was taken home by all his retinue, and none of them ever returned. Incidentally, the physician found that the earl's liver weighed 14 pounds."

Importance of Salt.

Salt has had much influence in shaping the civilization and exploration of the world. It is believed by many that the oldest trade routes were created for the salt traffic. This was certainly the case with the caravan routes in Libya and the Sahara, while the mines of North India were the center of a large trade before the time of Alexander. Salt, too, has played a considerable part in the distribution of man. He was forced to migrate to places where it could be obtained. This brought him to the sea shore, where he gained his ideas of maritime commerce. Lastly, the preservative effects of salt on flesh food made long oceanic voyages possible, and thus opened up the world to commerce and civilization.

Ancient Love-Letter.

In Chaldea an ancient love letter has been discovered written on clay. It had been written probably in the year 2200 B. C. and was found in Sippara, the Biblical Sepharvaim. Apparently the lady lived there, while her beloved was a resident of Babylon. The letter reads: "To the lady Kashbaya (little ewe) says Gimil Marduk (the favorite of Merodach), this: May the sun god of Mariduk afford you eternal life. I write that I may know how your health is. Oh, send me a message about it. I live in Babylon and have not seen you, and for this reason I am very anxious. Send me a message that will tell me when you will come to me, so that I may be happy. May you live long for my sake."

IMPORTATION OF SILK DECREASING

European Manufactures Feel Effect Of Raw Cotton In This Country

The exports of silk to the United States from Europe declined considerably in quantity last year. The principal cause for this was the steady expansion of the American silk production, the number of American factories having doubled since 1904. Japan is also securing a larger share of the American market to the detriment of European manufacturers.

In the year 1890 Germany sent silk to the value of about $10,000,000 to the United States, and Japan sent about $1,000,000; in 1904 the German exports of silk goods to this country amounted in value to only $1,500,000 and those of Japan to $5,000,000. Japanese exports of silk goods have tripled within the last ten years, increasing from $7,100,000 in 1895 to $22,400,000 in 1904, and the ascending movement is still continuing.

The sales of velvets from Europe, especially in the United States, are also becoming steadily smaller. The American factories are producing better qualities from year to year, and now not only the cheaper, but a large part of the middle qualities are sold to the American consumer in his own land. European manufactures are becoming seriously alarmed over this condition of affairs. Their American market, held for so long a time, is steadily slipping from them, and their profits are declining in proportion.

THE HORROR OF THE PACIFIC

The calamity that has come upon the city of San Francisco reports of which are by no means exaggerated, and which are probably underestimated if anything, is the greatest catastrophe that has ever befallen the American people, and ranks with the horrors of the known world, says the Newburyport News. The Johnston flood and the flood at Galveston seem to pale into insignificance by the side of this Pacific coast horror, which seems to be piling up in its awfulness as each day brings to the people of the eastern country additional facts regarding the extent of the loss of life and property.

The greatest earthquake disaster prior to this one on this continent, was that at Charleston, S. C., in 1886, when there were 50 killed and more than 100 seriously injured. The property loss was not extraordinarily large, because of the fact that the quake was confined to that portion of the city occupied by old and badly constructed buildings. There have been earthquakes in foreign parts which have far surpassed that which now occupies the public attention here in the United States, among them that at Yeddo, Japan, back in 1703, when it was estimated about 100,000 persons were killed.

At Lisbon, Portugal, on November 1, 1755, (All Saints' Day) earthquake, tidal wave and fire destroyed about 30,000 lives (the highest estimate) and caused a property loss of $100,000,000. The vibration was felt over a territory four times the area of Europe. In 1746, at Lima, Peru, 40,000 lives were lost; at Quito, Ecuador, in 1707, 41,000 were killed; at Mendoza, Argentina, 1860, 12,000 lives; Manila, 1880, 3,000.

It will be seen from these figures that the loss of life in these places was greater than in San Francisco, but it is doubted if the property loss in any one of them was larger than that of the Pacific coast city, as it could not be possible for the cities of the old world in those periods to have been constructed on such a scale as was San Francisco, one of the leading cities of the United States, where great business houses and superb mansions reared themselves in the elegant city of California.

The occasion is one which calls for sympathy on the part of all people of the country, and that sympathy will probably not be long withheld.

THE ACQUITTAL OF MRS. COOPER.

The acquittal of Mrs. Alice F. Cooper on Saturday afternoon of the charge of the murder of Charles North, the infatuated youth, ends in a manner generally satisfactory to a sympathetic public one of the strangest and most long drawn out trials which the Pine Tree state has ever known. Lawyer Heath, the senior counsel for the defense, has won fame from his remarkably brilliant conduct of the case. In the woman's defense he left no stone unturned which might provide evidence to effect her acquittal, the result achieved, and a shining light of his profession he has shown himself to be. And thus passes the Cooper trial into history.

Right here it is perhaps not inappropriate to ask if the money, the time and the labor spent by the state officials in attempting to fasten the black crime of murder upon Mrs. Cooper would not have been better spent in attempting to bring to justice the unknown slayer of Mattie Hackett. One turns out to have been as the machinery of the law has definitely decided, suicide, which many thought it to have been from the first.

But the other was murder,—deliberate, cold and brutal. There was no question of suicide possibilities involved, no elaborate testimony of self-styled experts necessary. It was, and is, a case of tracking down a guilty criminal who probably resides in the vicinity, but who may have escaped through the inactivity of officials engrossed in other and less commendable pursuits.

Be this as it may, we shall hear no more of the Cooper trial, save the occasional comment of the public, which generally seems inclined to say, with one of the counsel for the prosecution: "I am not sorry that Mrs. Cooper has been acquitted."

OUR EXCHANGES

A Prayer in Defeat

Still hurt me back, God, if Thou must!
Thy wrath, see, I shall bear—
I have been taught to know the dust
Of battle, and despair.

Bend not to me this hour, O God,
Where I defeated stand;
I have been schooled to bear thy rod,
And still wait, not unmaned!

But should some white hour of success
Sweep me where, vine-like, lead
The widening roads, the clamoring press—
Then I thy lash shall need!

Then, in that hour of triumph keen,
For then I ask thine aid;
God of the weak, on whom I lean,
Keep me then unafraid!

—Arthur Stringer in Smart Set.

Of Course

The University of Pennsylvania will confer the degree of doctor of laws upon King Edward, whereupon the king's private secretary will write a nice letter to the university.

Cheer Root

This is the season of the year when the fishing disputes are pressing for settlement. The fishing question is so important that Secretary Root will give it precedence over the tariff question.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

He Will Before Long

The Rockefeller baby does not know he is rich.—Florida Times-Union.

Her Generous View

It seems that the Countess of Warwick sold her jewels to help the socialist cause in the recent British elections. In a letter, which was meant to be private, she says: "Why should all this fuss be made about a few paltry diamonds, a drawful of jewels? It is foolish, when one considers the greater sacrifices made every day by men and women who are giving up real things for the faith that is in them—time, health, and perhaps life."—Dover Democrat.

THE MAGAZINES

American Magazine

"The Man With the Muck Rake" is the title chosen by Ellery Sedgwick, editor of the American magazine, for a vigorous editorial in the May number protesting against the excesses of the "literature of exposure."

The cover of the magazine gives picturesque notice of the feature of this number, the first installment of "The Mystery," a novel of adventure by Stewart Edward White and Samuel Hopkins Adams.

Interest in the new serial by no means overshadows the other contributions to this number. "Purged by Fire" is an attractive account of the training and life of New York firemen by Harvey O'Higgins. The article is illustrated with some exceptional "fire" photographs. Another article, profusely illustrated, is "The Finger Tips of Allah," a new picture of the East, by Broughton Brandenburg. "I Am Nothing: Freedom is All," the story of Ivanovitch Narodny, reported by Leroy Scott, is the story of Russia's struggle for freedom epitomized in a personal narrative of absorbing interest.

The fiction in this number is of the usual high order.

The Smart Set

Baroness Von Hutten, the distinguished author of "Pam," contributes the novelette to the May number of The Smart Set. The story is entitled "Three of a Kind," and is a delightfully humorous recital of the adventures which befell a young and ingenious married pair whose home is invaded by the mother of the bride, the mother of the bridegroom and the mother of the bridegroom's deceased first wife.

The number is rich in short stories, there being sixteen, including one in French; and these stories will appeal to every taste. Mrs. Henry Duney is represented by one of her finest bits of fiction, entitled "The Steps." Elliott Flower, in "The Road to Alamo," writes a story of an American girl's adventure on her way to Mexico; "Sacrifice," by Gustav Kobbe, is a sketch of newspaper life, vivid and forceful.

Other fiction is contributed by I. K. Friedman, May Isabel Flisk, Robert Dunn, Mary Heaton Vorse, Frederick Orin Bartlett, Norval Richardson and Robert Adger Bowen. There are two essays, one by Agnes Repplier entitled "The Estranging Sea," in which some pleasant things are said about our English cousins; the other is by Kate Masterson and whimsically entitled, "Should Cranberries Be Strained?"

The poetry is far beyond the average of magazine verse.

The reader who cannot find much to interest him in the May Smart Set must be blasé indeed.

FOR BOTH

One disease of thinness in children is scrofula; in adults, consumption. Both have poor blood; both need more fat. These diseases thrive on leanness. Fat is the best means of overcoming them: cod liver oil makes the best and healthiest fat and is the easiest and most effective form of cod liver oil. Here's a natural order of things that shows why Scott's Emulsion is of so much value in all cases of scrofula and consumption. More fat, more weight, more nourishment, that's why.

KITTERY LETTER.

The body of Asa Young, who died in Dover on Saturday, was brought here today for interment at North Kittery this afternoon.

Miss Ethel Frisbee, teacher of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades at Kittery Point, has been obliged to give up teaching on account of illness, and Supt. Dennett is looking for a substitute.

The cabinet officers of the Epworth League will hold a special business meeting this afternoon in the vestry of the Second Methodist Church.

Kittery Point

Keeper William C. Williams of the Boone Island light station, who with his wife landed at York for a short vacation here, reports a hard winter on the island. The sea was seldom smooth enough to permit landing.

Mrs. Williams has been at the point of death, but there was no chance to get ashore for medical aid, on account of the continued heavy sea. She had recovered sufficiently, however, to land with him on Tuesday.

A regular meeting of the Kittery Point Social Club will be held at Golden Cross Hall on Tuesday evening. All are cordially invited. The program follows:

Recitation,	Miss Lillian Walker
Reading,	John Thaxter
Song,	Miss Elizabeth Berry
Recitation,	Mrs. Charles Tobey
Song,	Miss Marion Emery

Miss Mary Randall observed her eleventh birthday on Saturday by a very enjoyable little party at which many of her young friends were present. There were songs and recitations, and refreshments of fruit, candy, ice cream and cake were served. Miss Mary received many fine presents.

Among her friends who attended were Misses Rossiter, Kelley and Cavanaugh of Dover, Bowen of Manchester, Robinson of Portsmouth; her teachers, Misses Bicknell, Currier and Lawton; Misses Bernice Phillips and Susie Seaward, Masters Roland and Joe Phillips, Wesley Randall and others.

Several reports have been made of a man who hides during the latter part of the evening in the vicinity of the Portsmouth, Dover and York car barn and chases belated women. As yet, however, he has succeeded in catching no one. Here is a chance for Kittery's constabulary force to nab this Jack the Huggler, or whatever he may be.

Mrs. Grace Downs of Portsmouth was the guest of friends in town on Sunday.

Mrs. Moses Randall is in ill health.

Joseph Pruett, who has been employed by a Boston dredging firm, is at home for a vacation.

Mrs. Fannie Sawyer of South Berwick was visiting friends in town on Saturday.

Mrs. George Frary, whose life was despaired of following an operation for appendicitis, is fast improving.

Miss Helene Seaward and Frank Getchell passed Sunday at the home of Mr. Getchell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Getchell at South Berwick.

Elmer Winslow is passing a vacation from his school duties at Concord, Mass., with Storor G. Decatur, at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Decatur. Young Mr. Winslow is the son of Comdr. Winslow, U. S. N., of the battleship Kearsarge, aboard which craft nine men were recently killed by an explosion.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Kimball of Boston are visiting friends in town.

The coal barge Brooklyn loaded the three masted schooner Ella M. Storor in the lower harbor Saturday night with the result that the latter craft lost some of her headgear.

On Wednesday evening a "Dutch spread" will be given by the young ladies of the First Freewill Baptist Church. If the weather prevents, the spread will be postponed until the following evening.

THE SOUSA PROGRAM

Presents A Selection Of Exceptionally Brilliant Attractions

The program arranged by John Philip Sousa for his coming concert in this city this evening presents a list of selections that are not only of exceptional brilliance, but are certain to afford all classes of hearers several hours of genuine satisfaction and delight.

The "Oberon" overture is a most beautifully woven web of charming melody and instrumental combination that suggests most subtly that mysterious world, said to be peopled with elves, fays and mermaids. The listener will believe Oberon's horn call opens the overture and will be fascinated by the impressiveness of the little phrase of only three notes which Weber has given to the mellow-voiced French horns.

The Welsh rhapsody is a magnificent latter-day composition constructed of harmonies that leave unmistakably their impress of vigor and studiousness, tinged only here and there with sadness and melancholy. As a climax to this interesting Welsh rhapsody there comes in sonorous, pompous outburst, that stirring, strong-fisted Welshman's song, "Men of Narloch."

"The Diplomat" is the latest of Mr. Sousa's creations in the march form and most eloquent proof that there is not a sign of waning in his ability to invent good, healthy, original melody, group vigorous harmonies, produce striking orchestral combinations and send shooting through the whole structure that flood of rhythm and vibration that appeal so vividly to the heart and set it all aglow and aquiver.

"The Ride of the Valkyries" will be voted a splendid closing number. The Valkyries were known in legend as long-haired, wild-eyed maidens, flying through the air on fiery charges and sent by the gods to convey fallen heroes from the battlefield to Walhalla, there to quaff celestial meal and pass their lives in glorious ease. In this "Ride of the Valkyries" Wagner has depicted vividly and most powerfully the wild ride skyward of these warrior maidens.

By means of runs in the violins and wood instruments, whizzing aloft and adown at the most furious rate he suggests with wondrous realism the conflict of the elements of the air accompanying the furious Valkyrie flight, while over and above all is heard a rollicking figure describing the motion of the steeds.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

At Home of Mrs. Mary Raitt in Eliot Last Week

Eliot, April 23.

A very pleasant party was given in Eliot on Tuesday of last week at the home of Mrs. Mary Raitt in celebration of her eighty-sixth birthday. About fifty relatives and friends from Eliot and vicinity were present.

Mrs. Raitt received many gifts, including several large sums of money.

Music was enjoyed by the aged hostess and her guests, Miss Goodwin of Dover giving vocal and instrumental solos and A. G. Raitt and E. V. Junkins providing graphophone selections.

A supper was also served to the guests.

Mrs. Raitt lives with her daughter and a son, John Raitt, resides in Exeter.

Mrs. Raitt is the daughter of the late William and Sarah Nason and has two sisters living, Mrs. Samuel Treadwell of Portsmouth, who is eighty-five, and Mrs. James Woodman of Bangor, who is eighty-three.

ROME WITHOUT A DOCTOR.

For Six Hundred Years the Empire Was Minus a Physician.

According to Pliny, Rome flourished for 600 years without a doctor. It is maintained by some, however, that when making this statement Pliny was not aware that certain Greek physicians resided in Rome, at least during a part of the period named. But there is certainly no question that in the early days of its history, physicians were very scarce in Rome, and doubtless because there was little occasion for their services. With the advance of civilization maladies have multiplied and with the increase of disease there has been a proportionate increase of physicians. There are at the present time in the United States not less than 150,000 physicians, and the number is increasing at the rate of several thousand annually. Whether or not the world is better for this great multiplicity of medical men is a question upon which there may be a difference of opinion.

Colors in Glass.

Changes in the color of glass are caused by subjecting it to the action of what are known as ultraviolet rays of light. Something of the same sort may be observed on high mountains, where old glass from bottles originally green, after exposure to the light of a great elevation in the regions of perpetual snow, attains a beautiful pale purple tint. The same result may also be seen in connection with the glass insulators used on telegraph or telephone lines in mountain districts.

Hub.

"What makes Skribbler walk so cheery?"
"Why, man, that fellow used to conduct the 'Through the Looking Glass' column on a paper down in Indiana. If you look close you'll see a cute little halo around his head when his hat is off. He knows Riley and all those big guys by sight. Why shouldn't he walk cheery?"—Milwaukee Sentinel.

OLD VIRGINIA RECIPES.

Directions for Making Mince Meat That Will Keep a Long Time—Some Delicious Muffins.

Mince-Meat That Will Keep for Months Without Canning—Boil gently until tender three pounds lean beef. Let it get perfectly cold, and then chop fine. Prepare four pounds apples peeled and chopped into small pieces, one pound shredded citron, two pounds seeded raisins chopped, two pounds Sultana raisins, one pound currants, two pounds sugar, the juice and rinds of two oranges and two lemons; two nutmegs grated, one-half ounce each of cloves, cinnamon and mace crushed or ground, one teaspoonful salt, one quart wine or one pint whisky or brandy (good cider may be used instead). Mix all the dry ingredients together, add the juice of the lemons and oranges, and the liquor. Pack in stone jars, and it will keep a long time. More liquor of the desired sort, or fruit juice, may be needed when pies are made. This recipe makes the genuine old Virginia Christmas pies.

Quick Muffins.—One pint of flour, one tablespoonful lard, one egg. Make into a thick batter with buttermilk or clabber, and just before baking add a teaspoonful of soda dissolved in a little warm water. Bake in gem pans, in a hot oven.

Old Virginia Rice Muffins.—Beat two eggs very light, add one pint milk; sift two cupsful flour with one teaspoonful baking powder and one-half teaspoonful salt. Rub a heaping cupful boiled rice into it and a large tablespoonful of lard or butter; pour the milk and eggs into the flour, and mix smooth. Cook at once in muffin rings or gem pans, in a hot oven, and serve hot.

Some Virginia Muffins.—Scald a quart of new milk, and let it cool, then stir into it slowly a quart of flour, a teaspoonful of salt, and one-half cupful yeast, add last three eggs beaten light, yolks and whites together. If wanted for supper, set to rise about eight hours before baking, and keep warm (in winter). When light, stir into it a large spoonful of melted butter. Bake in gem pans or muffin rings.—Ohio Farmer.

Menu of the Eagle.

The voracity of the eagle is a well-known fact, but it has been left to a Swiss hunter to define exactly the variations which take place in its daily menu. In a nest in the Alps, side by side with an eagle, he found a hare, freshly killed; 27 chamois' feet, four pigeons' feet, 30 pheasants' feet, 11 heads of fowls, 18 heads of grouse, and the remnants of rabbits, marmots and squirrels.

Mineral Fabrics.

Much of our textile materials now comes from the mines. Silk rustles with 36 per cent. of salts of tin, flannel is weighted with epsom salts, and linen table cloths are made from cotton filled with china clay and starch.

Due to Mimicry.

Scuttering children have lately become alarmingly numerous in Germany. The public-schools contain 80,000 of them. The increase in the number is largely due to mimicry.

PROPOSALS will be received at the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, Navy Department, Washington, D. C., until 10 o'clock A. M., May 1, 1906, and publicly opened immediately thereafter, to furnish at the navy yard, Portsmouth, N. H., a quantity of naval supplies, as follows:—Sigsbee's Yellow pine, oak plies—2x4, 4x4; Wire, rope, ditty box locks, pneumatic drills, hardware, duplex model instruments, gun caulkers. Applications for proposals should designate the schedule number desired by number. Blank proposals will be furnished upon application to the navy yard, Portsmouth, N. H., or to the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, Navy Department, Washington, D. C. a large and sympathetic congregation on Sunday forenoon, the occasion being a special and undenominational service in behalf of the homeless and destitute in California, caused by the great earthquake.

The meeting was called by the pastor, Rev. George E. Leighton, early on Friday morning, the result was an assemblage in hearty fellowship with the pastor's suggestions.

The pertinent theme of the address was "San Francisco's Extremity and the Country's Opportunity," and Rev. Mr. Leighton was most pathetic yet vigorous in his remarks and brought home to listening hearts a calamity whose equal has never been experienced in these United States. It was a forceful presentation and culminated in the taking of the generous contribution for the benefit of the sufferers.

This will be sent in behalf of the community by the pastor direct to the treasurer of the American National Red Cross at Washington for its distribution wherever most needed in the stricken city.

The entire service had the endorsement of most sympathetic chords, and the congregation seemed loth to depart from the church. All honor is due to Rev. Mr. Leighton for inviting this community to assemble on the Lord's day to take this action.

At St. John's Church

The offering at St. John's Church yesterday for the San Francisco sufferers was $60.58. It is to be paid to the mayor and go with the first of the Portsmouth contribution through that channel.

A box of clothes and blankets is being made up at the house of Mrs. Capt. Bradford, to be sent on Wednesday.

SHRINERS' TOUR TO THE PACIFIC COAST

A very delightful Spring tour to the Pacific coast has been arranged to leave Boston April 27, and while under the auspices of the Mystic Shrine, and a great reduction in rate has been made in consequence, the tour is available for the general public. The party will travel in the finest Pullman vestibuled equipment, and all meals en route will be in dining cars.

On the outward journey stops will be made at Chicago, Denver, Colorado Springs and Salt Lake City, accommodations being provided at the best hotels. The itinerary includes a side trip to Cripple Creek, with an opportunity to visit the celebrated gold mines, as well as the incomparable trip over the Denver and Rio Grande railroad, "The scenic line of the world", and the Rocky Mountains. Ten days will be spent in touring the state of California, winding up at San Francisco.

Two routes are offered for the return, one via the Grand Canyon of Arizona, and the other via Portland, Seattle, Vancouver and the Canadian Rockies, with stopovers at Glacier and Banff. For those who prefer to return via other routes, independent tickets are provided.

The party will travel in charge of an experienced conductor and all details are carried out in first class style. Illustrated itinerary may be obtained by calling on, or addressing, George L. Williams, N. E. P. A., 368 Washington street, Boston, Mass.

OBSEQUES

Funeral services over the body of William C. Pickering were held at two o'clock this (Monday) afternoon at his late home in Newington, Rev. Mr. Rogers officiating. A great number of relatives and friends attended. Interment was in Newington cemetery, under the direction of Undertaker O. W. Ham.

The funeral of Marion Louise Newcomb, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Newcomb, was held from the home of her parents on Spring street this (Monday) afternoon at two o'clock. Rev. J. L. Felt was the officiating clergyman. The body was placed in the receiving tomb of Undertaker H. W. Nickerson.

quite a steady man. He is a carpenter by trade and has worked more or less at that trade when he could secure employment.

The Weymouth police say Simmington is a bad man and when the police of the different cities get through with him he will be a very old man. They claim that he has done time in the Concord, Mass., state prison, being sent there from Worcester, and that he has also served a sentence at Charlestown, Mass. It is further stated that he is wanted by the police of Peabody, Swampscott and Chelsea.

The arrest of the man occurred in a peculiar way. On Saturday the police headquarters of Boston notified the police at Weymouth that the man they had been after since 1902 was in Portsmouth and even gave the Weymouth police his address.

The Weymouth officers immediately called up the Portsmouth police and Simmington was soon in their hands.

The Boston police say a pal of Simmington's gave the whole thing away. Simmington says that his wife did it.

It is known by the local police that Simmington's wife visited Boston on Saturday and they are satisfied that she told the Boston police the story. It is reported that she does not care for her husband and it has been hinted that she prefers to have him out of the way.

Chief of Police Fitzgerald and Inspector Butler of the Weymouth police department took Simmington to Boston on the 21 on Sunday afternoon.

POSSIBLE SALE

Of the Wentworth House at New Castle Reported

The latest reported possible purchasers of Hotel Wentworth are William McAvilly, proprietor of the Sinclair House, Bethlehem, and Henry Merrill, of Barron, Merrill and Barron, proprietor of The Fabyan and other White Mountain hostilities.

These gentlemen have inspected the New Castle hotel and have conferred with the trustees of the Jones estate.

The absence of Judge Calvin Page in Boston made it impossible to either verify or contradict the current reports today (Monday).

WORKED IN THE DARK

Steel Smoke Stack Erected After Eleven O'clock at Night

A good job was carried out on Saturday night by a contracting firm which erected a steel smoke stack on the power plant of the electric street railway on Noble's Island.

The work was all done after eleven o'clock at night. The fires of the boilers were put out and the system run by a storage battery.

The job was considered a speedy one on the part of the workmen, as there was no delay in the regular running schedule of the cars.

CHARLES CROSS GUILTY

The Court Sentences Him To Thirty Days In Jail

The grand jury of the United States court in session at Portland brought an indictment against Charles Cross of Portsmouth, for larceny of copper wire, from the United States navy yards.

He pleaded guilty and sentenced to thirty days in jail.

SOMERSWORTH CANCELS

Somersworth High School has canceled its league baseball game scheduled for Wednesday with Portsmouth High. The reason is that Wednesday is to be devoted to the Somersworth team to the San Francisco sufferers. Manager Tucker of the Portsmouth team will try to secure a game with York High School for Wednesday or Thursday. On Saturday, the team will play Brewster Academy of Wolfboro.

SIGN OF SPRING

Now is the time to have your lawn mower overhauled and put in first class condition. Every mower is ground by a practical mechanic on an especially made machine, which leaves no guess work nor standing grass. All work will receive the same careful attention it did last year.

AT THE NAVY YARD

The four masted schooner Independent has arrived from Baltimore with a cargo of 1800 tons of coal for the yards and docks department.

Work on Henderson's Point has begun in earnest. There is too much sea outside, however, to permit dumping the mud scows.

The steam lighter Leviathan has arrived from Plum Island, Mass., with a cargo of sand for the department of yards and docks.

Seven carpenters and two firemen have been discharged from the yards and docks department, owing to lack of work.

Some of the largest contributors to the San Francisco fund are said to have been some of the prisoners on the receiving ship Southern.

A delegation of electrical workers from the yards and docks department attended the funeral of Asa Young in Kittery this (Monday) afternoon. The workmen in the department also sent a handsome floral piece, a crescent and star.

The examination for the position of master machinist in the department of steam engineering has been ordered by the secretary of the navy for May 15 at Portsmouth navy yard. The position calls for $6.00 per diem and will be made vacant by the resignation of Master Machinist John Hayes.

The tug Sioux, which is to be temporarily attached to the Boston navy yard during the time of building a new boiler for the regular yard tug Twana, will sail tomorrow (Tuesday) at seven a. m.

When the work of laying out walks and turfing is completed in front of the main office building, a small park will greet the eye of the visitor around the Spanish trophy guns mounted on both sides of the walk.

VERY BAD CONDITION

Schooner Marion Draper Will Hardly FloatPUMPS INSUFFICIENT TO KEEP BACK WATER

The schooner Marion Draper was got in readiness on Sunday to leave for Portland in tow of the tug Portsmouth, at twelve o'clock last night, but owing to the sudden and unexpected change in the weather, the start was postponed. The temporary patches were strengthened, a third pump from the burned schooner George W. Glover was installed and six extra men were engaged to help man the pumps, making with the owner, captain, mate and steward of the schooner, ten persons.

It was found, however, that it took the utmost efforts of three pumps to keep the vessel free and she lies at Cutts wharf this morning half full of water again, as the pumping was discontinued at two o'clock.

The starboard anchor and thirty fathoms of chain which were lost when the vessel was hauled off the rocks, were recovered last night. The schooner on her arrival in Portland Harbor will go on the South Portland ways for extensive repairs.

A NEW TRAIN

Practically Assured For Portsmouth
For Coming Summer

A short time ago The Herald announced exclusively that in making up the Summer schedule of trains the Boston and Maine railroad was considering changes, two of which would benefit Portsmouth. One such change was the running of a Newburyport train to Portsmouth instead of putting it up in that city. The other was making the train from Concord and Manchester, which only runs on Saturdays and Mondays to York Beach during the Summer season, a daily train.

The Herald can say that Portsmouth will get one of these improvements in its service. The train which leaves Boston at six p. m. and arrives at Newburyport at 7.10 p. m., will come to Portsmouth, arriving here about 7.40 and will remain over night, leaving here for Boston in the morning about six o'clock.

The matter of the York train in question has not been settled yet by the officials of the Southern division, but with the strong petitions from Manchester and Concord now in the hands of the officials of that division, it is thought that the change will be made.

BRAKEMAN'S ACT

His Presence Of Mind Saved A Man's Life

What would have been a serious accident undoubtedly causing, at least, one death was averted by the act of a brakeman on the Pullman train Sunday night.

Just as the train was coming into the station, a man who was standing in the vestibule of one of the cars jumped off the train, his body swung in between the cars and it looked as if his legs would be crushed by the wheels.

The brakeman, who was standing on the platform, quickly made a bridge of a part of his body between the car platforms in such a manner as to keep the man from going under the wheels. While this was being done, the man's wife, who was also on the platform, got excited and also jumped from the train and struck upon her face on the station platform. One of her teeth was knocked out and her face was slightly bruised.

The man and woman reside in York and after recovering a little from the effects of their exciting experience left for home on the electric.

MANY CONTRIBUTIONS

dividual contributions for the San Francisco fund. The amounts handed to him vary from one dollar to fifty dollars.

The amounts collected at the various churches have not yet been turned over to Mr. Page.

This (Monday) morning, the senior class of Portsmouth High School voted to raise $50 for the relief fund.

A fund is also being raised among the parishioners of Christ Church. Rev. C. LeV. Brine, the pastor, is not yet able to state the amount.

The work of collecting for the San Francisco fund is being pushed along at the navy yard and today (Monday) many workmen and enlisted men are placing their signatures to the subscription list. The amount collected is said to be nearly $500 up to the present time. The fund will not be closed until after pay day. Wednesday, and the total amount will be forwarded to Washington on Thursday.

Joseph Polimer, the well known State street furniture dealer, who was awarded the twenty dollar gold piece at the Foresters' fair, made a good disposition of the money. It had hardly reached his hands when he added five dollars more to it and forwarded the full amount to the sufferers at San Francisco.

HALF THE PROCEEDS

Of "Princess Bonnie" For San Francisco Sufferers

Half the net proceeds of the performances of "Princess Bonnie" at Music Hall on both Thursday and Friday evenings will be added to the local San Francisco fund. This was definitely decided at a meeting of Fannie A. Gardiner Rebekah Lodge today (Monday).

This action on the part of the organization which is to give the opera is most commendable. It should result in a substantial addition to the Portsmouth fund.

The announcement of the generosity of Fannie A. Gardiner Lodge should insure great crowds at both performances of "Princess Bonnie."

ASA R. YOUNG

Young Man of High Character and Great Promise

Asa R. Young of Kittery, who died at the home of his aunt on Ham street, Dover, Saturday morning, aged twenty-seven years, had been for the past five years employed in the electrical crew of the yards and docks department at the navy yard. Last Winter he gave up work to fight the dread disease of tuberculosis which finally ended his young life.

Mr. Young was a man who won the respect in all quarters of his fellow men and in the department where he worked he was a favorite.

He was never found wanting in his duty and the same can be said of him when a friend or neighbor needed his assistance.

He was a native of Madbury, but had resided in Kittery since he took his position at the navy yard.

He was a member of Naval Lodge of Masons of Kittery and of the Electrical Workers' Union of this city. A wife survives him.

Funeral services will be held at Dover this afternoon and the body will be sent to Kittery for interment.

SENTENCE FOR JENNESS

Not Less Than Four Nor More Than

The senior member of the architectural firm of Cram, Goodhue and Ferguson of Boston is to pass the Summer in Europe. Mr. Cram, whose place of nativity is Hampton Falls, will be accompanied by his wife.

H. W. T. Norris, who has been engaged as manager of the Eagle Rock Hotel, Kennebunk Beach, by the Eagle Rock Company, is a young man of quiet tastes and marked ability. He was at one time connected with The Rockingham.

There has been plenty of baseball so far this year.

THE DATE SELECTED

For Benefit Performance in Music HallWEDNESDAY EVENING, MAY 2ND,
FINALLY CHOSEN

Wednesday, May 2, has been finally selected as the date of the benefit performance in Music Hall for the people of San Francisco. It was found impossible to give it earlier.

A special meeting will be held at the Portsmouth Athletic Club rooms on Tuesday evening to perfect arrangements.

It is probable that the performance will consist of the P. A. C. minstrel show with the overture, choruses and solos exactly as given last Spring.

For the olio, there will be selections by the High School Glee and Mandolin Club, Frank J. Goodwin will appear as "Uncle Rube", E. P. Lawrence will give a monolog sketch and other artists will appear, their names to be announced later.

Among those who have volunteered for the performance are the members of the Richmond Club minstrel troupe, through Manager Wyatt E. Berry.

COLLECTION FOR CHARITY

At Church of Immaculate Conception
Next Sunday

At both masses at the Church of the Immaculate Conception on Sunday, the pastors spoke with compassion and sympathy of the San Francisco disaster and called for the prayers of the congregation for the army of sufferers and dead in that city.

They feelingly touched on the recent disaster in Italy, which was followed by the unfortunate event in our own country and appealed to their people to be generous in aiding the grief stricken people of the Pacific coast city.

Collections for the sufferers will be taken next Sunday, according to the following circular from Rt. Rev. Bishop John B. Delany:

Manchester, N. H.,
April 20, 1906.

Rev. Dear Father:—
We are sure that, with the whole country, you are horrified by the reports of the unparalleled disaster that has come upon the city of San Francisco.

Never, in the nation's history, has a city and its people been so afflicted. The extent of destitution and suffering in the stricken district baffles even the imagination. Churches, schools, orphanages and hospitals—all are destroyed. The dead are numbered by the thousand, the wounded and afflicted by the hundred thousand, and all that survive are homeless, helpless and hungry, without even water to slake their thirst.

Heart-rending appeals for relief have been sent broadcast and we are satisfied that no words of ours need be added to enlist your sympathy and that of your congregation for this stricken people. Every state and city of the union is sending assistance; but we think it is only fitting that we, as a Catholic diocese, should do something to testify our sympathy and charity.

Therefore, Rev. Father, on Sunday, you will please ask the prayers of the faithful for this community in its hour of distress; and, as money will best serve the situation, announce at the same time, a collection to be taken up on the following Sunday, April 29, for the relief of the suffering. We ask you to urge your people to give generously to this most worthy object of charity and to forward the offerings to us as soon as can be done.

By order of The Rt. Rev. Bishop,
Thomas M. O'Leary, Chancellor.
